ABOUT ME

After graduating from Bournemouth Arts University with a Graphic Design Degree, I packed my suitcase and ran away to London, where I started a new creative life in advertising at Ogilvy, through The Pipe.

The advertising environment is something I love, and I enjoy learning and teaching myself new things. Working with digital design is where I steer towards, and I enjoy animating my work wherever I possibly can.

Sceptical about London at first, I love the sheer amount of opportunity, creativity and diversity here. Although I do miss paddle boarding along the sandy coast line and adventures in the new forest.
